- Smaller Air Hands are lightweight and can be used effectively in multi-cavity molds.
- Larger Air Hands, when used in multi-cavity molds, can significantly affect the overall EOAT weight.
- The amount of inflation and grip force can be adjusted as needed with the use of a pressure regulator (see page 1014).
- Choose silicone when high-temperature and non-marking is most important, Neoprene when part temperature is lower and long-life is most important.
